

LOCAL DEPARTMENT.

Republican Club Meeting.

The Janesville City Republican Club will meet at the office of Hudson & Constance, Saturday evening, December 3d, at 7th o'clock. Every member of the club, as well as all republicans favorable to a thorough organization of the party for the campaign of 1860, are urgently invited to attend, as business of importance will be transacted.

R. B. TREAT, President.
A. A. JACKSON, Secretary.

ACKNOWLEDGMENT.—We are indebted to Mr. Beets of the telegraph office in this city, for the news published in another column, under the heading of the telegraphic head.

SUSPENSION OF THE DAILY TIMES.—The publishers of the Daily Times in their issue of Thursday evening, announce its suspension "at least for the present," and say that its reactivation at any time is "problematical." They complain that they "have not met with that liberal encouragement which they had good grounds for believing would be extended to them, and they find that their labor and their exertions to make the Daily even a self-sustaining institution, almost thrown away."

The publication of the weekly will be continued, and advance payments on the daily (which do not exceed $15.00) will be credited on the weekly.

We regret that our neighbors have been compelled to adopt the course enforced upon them; but under the circumstances we do not see how they could have acted otherwise. Few persons realize the labor and cost of publishing a daily paper; a majority of its readers only think of the satisfaction derived from its perusal, and many remember the publisher only when they want to find fault with him. The idea of paying for what they receive is dimly entertained when collector calls, and forgotten as a disagreeable subject as soon as an excuse for non-payment can be framed. We hope our friends will meet with better success as weekly than they have found as daily journalists.

OUR SWIFT IMP.—Bast not to us, O ye La Crosse publishers, nor ye Janesvillians, of the monstrous speed of your fleet young compositors! We claim the palm, in that behalf. In this office, there plots his quiet, modest way.

"A youth to Fortune and Fame unknown," sixteen years old, named Nathan C. Hall, "of stature short but genius bright," who has worked at printing but little more than a year, and who last Saturday, between the hours of 8th A. M. and 4th P. M., set 9,500 ems, besides doing all the deviling—"keeping all the water and bringing all the fire," &c. of the office.

We will let our "bare-skin cap" and all the other boots and breeches we've won on the last election, that there is not another boy in this state of his age and experience who can compare with him.

The amount of type he will set in a given time;

The accuracy of the proof thereof;

The workmanlike manner of the composition;

The number of historical questions he will answer;

The number of books and papers he reads; nor

The entirely mind-his-own-business character of the youth on general principles.

If any of our contemporaries have any stock they want to trot out to accept this challenge, they will name their stakeholder, and just appoint the time and place of trial. —Adams Co. Independent.

Ye Shanghai! Unparalleled in your own personal identity, you are unsurpassed in your d—l. We, "ye Janesvillians," to whom your challenge is addressed, presumption not upon the perils of its acceptance. Our d—l is a blithesome lad, of a year's growth in the profession, but his merits fail before the genius of the Independent's imp.

His (i. e., our d—l's) talents are, it is true, peculiar and rare; he can ask more questions in an hour than yours can answer in a month; he is eminently gifted in stories and marvellously posted in transactions about the town; he can out-figure any jour in the office for "phat copy," and shirk a piece of bad distribution in a manner worthy of the highest admiration; his silence is suggestive of a cotton factory, such a one as we (i. e., the editor) used to visit in "old Berkshire," when we alarmed all the operatives therein by trying to talk to a pretty cousin; but, Shanghai, we decline to trot him out on the specific proposition you offer. Amen!

RELIANT'S NOTICE.—The Universalist Society has changed its place of meeting from Lappin's Hall to the Court Room in Myer's block. Hours of service 10 A. M. and 2 P. M. S. C. BULKELEY, Pastor.

VOTE IN BELOIT.—The Journal says: In Beloit, the vote this year was for some unaccountable reason very light this fall, more than one hundred lighter than last spring. This fall it amounted to 763, and last spring to 885. Two years ago, 701 votes were cast.

AUCTION SALE.—J. M. Haselton & Co. will sell auction to-day a large stock of clothing, boots, shoes, furniture, and other articles adapted to the present cold weather. Men with money in their pockets, or having good credit will be apt to find good bargains.

A COLD SNAP.—Yesterday morning came in with a decidedly military style. The thermometer was within 1 deg. of zero, and the river between the upper and lower dams skinned with an unmistakable coat of ice.

Oysters.—F. S. Eldred, at his grocery store in Milwaukee street, receives oysters direct from Fairhaven, and consequently in the best condition. He intends to keep a constant supply.

RAILROAD COMPETITION.—The Galena and Rockford roads are in a fight over their passenger and freight traffic. The Rockford road first made a reduction, and then the Galena road came in with a vengeance. Both roads sell tickets to Chicago for $1, the price heretofore being $2.75. At the reduced prices, the Rockford News says that it will pay passengers from Freeport, Peoria, tonica, Polyvalencia and Cherry Valley, to ride to Rockford, and take the cars from there to Chicago. The exact reduction in the price of freight we have not seen stated.

Keep Out the Storm.

We advise every housekeeper to have Bradstreet's Weather Strips and Moulding fitted to their outside doors and windows. It is a good article, and works to a charm. Those wishing the above articles will please address W. E. Taylor, Janesville Post Office.

BONNETS.—Mrs. H. M. Stevens has opened in room No. 3, Ogden House, a stock of new and beautiful bonnets, which she offers to the ladies of Janesville at very low prices. Those interested are invited to examine them.

RAILROAD BRIDGE PRESENTED.—The grand jury of Racine county have presented the railroad bridge of the Lake Shore road over Root river in Racine city as having been "for a long time in an unsafe and weak condition," and the jury declare "that such condition results from the structure as well as the wear of the said bridge, and that the lives of those who pass over said bridge in the railroad cars are greatly endangered thereby."

COMMON SCHOOLS IN THE STATE.—The Madison Journal says:—The forthcoming report of Hon. L. C. Draper, state superintendent of public instruction shows that there has been paid out for teachers wages alone in the public schools of this state during the year ending on the 31st of August last the sum of $536,600.66. Of this amount, $22,672.61 has been raised by direct tax.

During the same period, there has been expended the sum of $14,328.75 raised by tax, in building or repairing school houses. The father of W. H. Watson, private secretary to Gov. Randall, died at Washington Heights, New York, Nov. 15th.
